Dudgeon-Monroe Neighborhood Association

23rd Annual Jazz in the Park

By Tyler Leeper, Jazz in the Park Chair

Coming – Saturday, June 14, 3:00-9:00 p.m.!

Mark your calendars, dust off the picnic baskets and get ready for Dudgeon Monroe Neighborhood Association's Summer Kick Off. We have guarantees that the weather will be wonderful and we are excited about the afternoon's activities. So walk, bike, skate, or carpool and join us for the following events:

Family Fun from 3:30-5:00 p.m. with Arts and Crafts hosted by the Monroe Street Fine Arts Center; Log Rolling hosted by Madison Log Rolling; Dragon Boating hosted by Team Survivor; Kite Flying hosted by Serrv; and Fire Engine #9.

Jazz, Jazz and More from 3:00-9:00 p.m. Gather your friends, grab your lawn chairs and blankets, and settle in for an incredible afternoon of music! Jazz All Stars, Edgewood Jazz Ensemble, Fixed Income, and MadiSalsa are featured bands.

Jazz in the Park is a celebration of our neighborhood and an opportunity to get together and share a wonderful afternoon of music and community. This event is supported by DMNA and the businesses of Monroe Street. Please support all of our Monroe Street businesses. Special thanks to our 2013 and 2014 Jazz in the Park sponsors:

Band Sponsors: Laurel Tavern, Wingra Shores and J. Michael Real Estate

Activity Sponsors: Alvarado Real Estate Group, Brasserie V, Hotel Red, Jac's Dining and Tap House, Mallatt's Pharmacy, Mary Jo Howard Croake, Madison Gas & Electric, Mickie's Dairy Bar, Orange Tree Imports, Taste of India, Wingra Boats

General Sponsors: A Stone's Throw, Lakeview Veterinary Clinic, Luedtke-Storm-Mackey Chiropractic Clinic,

Michael's Frozen Custard, Neuhauser Pharmacy, Zander's Interiors

Make Jazz in the Park a Zero Waste Event!

By Debi Leeper, JIP Committee

In past years, after Jazz in the Park is over, dancers and picnickers have left and the band has closed down, and there is a mountain of trash left behind waiting to be dumped into the landfill. This year, with the help of volunteers, we hope to make a difference and have Jazz in the Park be a Zero Waste Event!

Our goal is to send less to the landfill and more to be recycled and composted.

Small changes can make a big difference, so volunteer and sign up your family, neighbors or community organization to take an hour shift to assist people in discerning what is waste and what can be recycled. Contact Debi Leeper at debileep@gmail.com or 695-7851 to be part of the very first Jazz in the Park Zero Waste Event! Without volunteers we cannot make this happen.

Summer Solstice with Make Music Madison

By Dorrie Sundquist

For most of us, all the glories of summer could not come soon enough. Saturday, June 21, is the date of the solstice, the day which officially starts Wisconsin's most elusive season. This year the Dudgeon-Monroe neighborhood will again celebrate the coming of summer with two musical events. These events tie in with the citywide musical party Make Music Madison.

To kick-off the day's events Wingra Boats is hosting a stage sponsored by Ward-Brodth Music Mall. This stage will feature acts that have been a part of the Launch-pad program, a competitive program designed to help youth realize their full musical potential. The line-up at the

President's Message

It is spring and everything outside is emerging from winter dormancy. Our Dudgeon Monroe Neighborhood Association is also coming out of hibernation and entering the busiest time of the year.

We can look forward to work parties along the Southwest Path and in Glenwood Children's Park, the weeding and cultivation of the community orchard in Wingra Park, Jazz in the Park on June 14, Solstice Make Music at Glenwood, the July 4 Children's Parade, and, of course, review of development proposals and street reconstruction by our zoning and transportation committees. DMNA is an extremely active organization and our Hornblower newsletter, the dmna.org web site, and DMNA news emails are designed to keep you informed about what is happening and how you can be involved.

Then in the fall a "Block Captain" will knock on your door to deliver a new directory and ask you to make a small membership contribution to keep us going for another year. We are pleased to report that 793 households out of 1,100 joined DMNA last fall.

But none of this happens without volunteers. The neighborhood Council and the committees all need your contributions of time, however much you can give. Point your browser to www.dmna.org/com munist and contact a committee chair if you can contribute your time and energy to make DMNA an even better organization.

July 4th Parade & Celebration

By Sarah Affeldt, Co-chair

Come celebrate July 4th with your Dudgeon Monroe neighbors! While the parade may be for the young and young at heart, the rest of the festivities are for neighbors of all ages, so please come down and check it out! We would love to see you on Friday, July 4, to play lawn games, soccer and volleyball, mingle with your neighbors and enjoy yummy snacks thanks to our wonderful Monroe Street businesses. Make it a picnic, bring your lunch and stay as long as you like.

WHEN: Friday, July 4

WHERE: Michael's Frozen Custard for kids to decorate their wheels. Decorating supplies will be available for kids to use. The parade will end in Wingra Park for lawn games and snacks.

TIMES: 9:30-10:15 Decorating in the Michael's lot

10:15-10:30 Parade to Wingra Park

10:30-12:30 Lawn games for kids of all ages, snacks from neighborhood businesses and a time to relax with neighbors

We are always hoping for a few more volunteers to help make this event even better! Here are a few ways you could help:

- hang up event posters around the neighborhood
- sign you or your kids up to help staff the kids' games, nail painting, etc.
- help with set-up the morning of July 4 or clean-up when decorating has concluded.

Please email Sarah Affeldt if you would like to volunteer in any way at sarahaffeldt@gmail.com. Hope to see you all July 4th!

New Development Planned at Monroe/Glenway

By Julia Billingham, Planning and Zoning Committee

A four-story, mixed-use development has been proposed for 3414 Monroe Street. Owner Patrick Corcoran plans to demolish the existing building and build first-floor commercial space and apartments above. Corcoran and architects met with a group from the DMNA Zoning Committee to gather ideas, feedback, and reactions to a preliminary schematic of the building. The schematic showed the maximum height/massing configuration allowed by TSS (Traditional Shopping Street) zoning designation plus conditional use permits.

The basic TSS zoning designation for this property allows mixed-use buildings up to 25,000 square feet and three stories or 40 feet in height, without further city approval. "Conditional use" permits, granted by the City's Plan Commission, can allow for higher and/or larger square footage buildings if certain conditions are met.

The process for obtaining conditional use permits is fairly streamlined and does not allow many chances for neighborhood input. The developer must hold one public hearing before the permits are voted on by the Plan Commission at its next scheduled meeting, approximately every other Monday at 5:30 p.m. Individuals wishing to speak at the Plan Commission meeting are allowed three minutes each.

There are various issues related to a project at this site, including scale/massing, parking, traffic, number of units, transitions to adjacent properties, possible environmental impacts on Wingra springs and the Arboretum, sustainability features, and the opportunity for developing this site to reflect its "gateway to the Arboretum" status. Because Arbor House's Plough Inn is listed on the National Register of Historic Places and is designated a Madison Landmark, the project's impact on that property will also need to be considered. The historical status of the existing Marshall Erdman building is being investigated. Built in 1954, the building was the first medical clinic built by Marshall Erdman & Associates. The company grew from its Madison roots to become a leading builder of health care facilities in the United States.

A public meeting for this project was held on May 5, after this issue of the Hornblower went to press. Please refer to our webpage <http://dmna.org/zoningcommittee> for project updates and contact zoning@dmna.org for questions or comments.

Monroe Street Reconstruction Planning

By Charlie Crisanti, Transportation Chair

The city held its first public meeting for the Monroe Street reconstruction at Hotel Red on April 10. It was well attended by residents of the Dudgeon-Monroe, Villas, and Regent neighborhoods in addition to many Monroe Street business owners. The format was conversational and collaborative and gave attendees a chance to share their ideas and concerns with city staff and Metro Transit. Attendees broke into groups where we were asked to discuss challenges and solutions pertaining to Traffic/Parking, Pedestrian/Bike/Transit, Business, Storm water/Utilities, and Placemaking (the design of public spaces). There were maps of Monroe Street on which we were encouraged to draw designs, leave notes, and list any issues deemed important. And if that wasn't enough space, there were also feedback forms for additional comments.

The city also outlined a general timeline with resurfacing scheduled from Odana to Leonard in 2015. During this phase the pavement will be completely replaced while curbs and sidewalks will be replaced as necessary. Reconstruction from Leonard to Regent is scheduled for 2016. Along this stretch the pavement and curbs will be completely replaced and the sidewalk will be updated where necessary. Utilities will be updated in both sections as sanitary, water, and storm lines date back to as early as 1905!

Future meetings will include conceptual designs and ideas in June and stakeholder focus groups in June/July, followed by a proposed design in September. Specific dates will be announced as they are scheduled via dmnnews.com.

For additional information on the project or to see a copy of the April 10 presentation, check out the city's Monroe Street reconstruction page at www.cityofmadison.com/engineering/monroe/. You can also sign up for email updates at my.cityofmadison.com.

SW Path Neighborhood-Based Projects

By Sandy Stark, SW Path Chair

Steve Glass, former UW-Madison Arboretum Manager and long-time volunteer on the SW Path, wrote this on his restoration blog, Wingra Springs: "The neighborhood-based and community run restoration projects along Madison's SW Path make a strong case for the social, cultural, and ecological benefits of restoration projects. The small prairie plantings strung along the SW Path...are conceived, planned, implemented, and managed by neighborhood associations and citizens groups...who have built strong partnerships with public and private agencies, received funding and in-kind donations from granting agencies, educated fellow citizens, and provided opportunities for socializing and outdoor experiences."

Here are some of those opportunities. Join us!

Prescribed Prairie Burns

April showers outmaneuvered. Alongside path neighbors in Westmoreland, we completed three "housekeeping" burns this spring: one at Odana/path, and two at the Glenway/path intersection. Glenway Prairie (behind the golf course) was burned for the first time since it was planted seven years ago and then re-seeded the day after to take advantage of the warmed and energized earth. Look for more variety and color this year!

Prospect Place: Jake's Rompin' Ramp Gardens

Watch for small fruit trees, strawberries, and assorted native plantings in this little oasis where path sidewalks and bike ramps join Regent and Dudgeon-Monroe neighborhoods at Prospect. This is a good example of how dedicated neighbors can adopt an area that was rocky, weedy and erosion-prone and turn it into a flourishing series of plantings--some of which can be eaten as you walk or ride by! This is a great opportunity for volunteers to contribute to our neighborhood, get to know your neighbors and what is now a rather beautiful environmental space. See Upcoming Events for work party times or contact Jake at jblasczyk13@gmail.com or 251-9506 to arrange another time.

Project Monarch

Plant milkweed in spring; scatter seeds in fall. This is a continuation of activities along the path begun last year. Watch for signs!

The Zen of Garlic Mustard Pulls

Another May, another work crew. Every spring, it seems, path and woods-walkers, as individuals or crews, know to bag garlic mustard. If you're inclined, the city (Engineering and Parks) will pick up the bags if left in the right places. Check with Sandy Stark for the latest sites, sestark@wisc.edu or 255-4195.

Garden Updates

By Percy Mather, Parks and Gardens Committee

The proposed community garden project west of Odana Road along the SW Path will be delayed until the 2015 growing season. In April, the agency that sponsors most community gardens announced it would no longer provide liability insurance or hold the garden site leases with the City. Discussions are underway to find an alternate sponsor. The delay allows garden supporters and adjacent residents to work through the details of site design and operation as well as address any concerns. An important effort will be fundraising for site preparation if the community garden is approved.

The proposed garden project will draw from the Nakoma, Westmoreland and Dudgeon-Monroe neighborhoods. Anyone interested in more information or getting involved should call 233-1955 or email SWCommunityGarden@gmail.com.

Warmer weather signals the start of another growing season and the promise of another cherry harvest in the Wingra Park Orchard Garden. In addition to planting the garden, volunteers will remove garlic mustard and other invasive plants that are growing in Wingra Park. Wildflowers will be planted in suitable areas. See the Wingra Orchard Workdays schedule listed in Upcoming Events. In case of rain or to schedule other work sessions, call Percy at 233-1955. Tools and plant identification training will be provided.

In our club for kids, start earning a free book and more great prizes with every book or hour read (or read to)! Prizes are available starting June 13. Our teen club gets teens reading, exploring technology, and volunteering and is only available online. Our adult club offers prize drawings for books read and is available online or in our libraries. Funding and programming for the 2014 Summer Reading Program for children was provided by the NASA Astrobiology Institute and the UW Geology Museum. Additional support was donated by Olbrich Gardens and Overture Center for the Arts. (From the Monroe Street Branch Library)

Thank You, Bicyclers

Our thanks to SW Path bicyclers for decreasing traffic, congestion and pollution on Monroe Street by using the SW Path corridor. Whether commuting, biking to shop, or for recreation, you are "part of the solution." Please also remember to share the path with walkers and joggers. Slow down and pass around them safely. And walkers and joggers, move to the right or go in single file when bicyclers signal to pass.

Help Prevent Break-ins

The beginning of summer is a good time to review police recommendations for our personal and home safety. Madison Police recommend that we keep cars, doors and windows of homes, and garages locked and keep laptops and other electronics secure. Always call 911 immediately to report suspicious or criminal behavior you see in the neighborhood. The Dudgeon Monroe neighborhood is among the safest in Madison and we can all help keep it that way.

Monroe Street Photos on Display

Stop in at Orange Tree Imports and Barriques and enjoy the historic photos of Monroe Street businesses. Most of the photos at Orange Tree are from the collection at the Wisconsin State Historical Society, according to Orange Schroeder.

Bicycling on Sidewalks

Pedestrians always have the right of way on sidewalks, but bicycling is permitted on sidewalks in Madison, except in areas where buildings abut the sidewalks, such as the business districts along Monroe Street. Ride at slower speeds than you would on the street and be prepared to stop at driveways and intersections. 20%-30% of bicycle crashes each year involve a bicyclist who was riding on a sidewalk, according to the Madison Traffic Engineering Department. Motorists must yield to both pedestrians and bicyclists who are on the sidewalk when entering or exiting a driveway or in crosswalks. Be safe!

Senior Meals

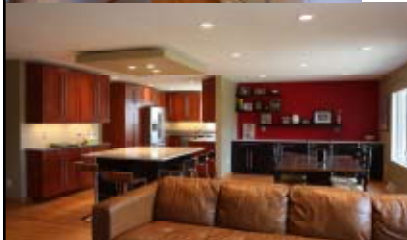

Nutritious and affordable meals are served to seniors on Mondays at 5:00 p.m. and Tuesdays and Thursdays at noon at the West Madison Senior Center, 602 Sawyer Terrace. The cost is a donation for anyone over 60 with a suggested minimum donation of $4.00. Check the West Madison Senior Coalition site at www.westmadisonseniorcoalition.org or call 238-7368 for more information.

Why We Like Our Neighborhood

By Karen Redfield

All of us who live in the Dudgeon Monroe neighborhood have stories of why we moved here and stayed. Some of us can trace roots back two or three generations, and some have just recently put down roots. Katie and Matt, and Alison and Adam have done just that. Talking with them is a good reminder of why we like our neighborhood.

Like many people, Alison and Adam met while attending UW-Madison. That's where they fell in love—and fell in love with Madison. After living “all over downtown Madison” and the far west side, they moved to West Lawn Avenue and are “excited to be closer to downtown” and within walking distance of coffee shops, restaurants, and stores. The bike paths and parks were also a draw, as were the “quiet, cozy, tree-lined streets.” Though they have only been neighbors for a short while, and have lived through three frozen pipe events, they are happy to be here. And they already feel welcomed by their friendly neighbors. As one of those neighbors, I am also very happy they chose our street.

Katie and Matt also felt immediately welcomed into the neighborhood when they moved to Sheldon Street. Katie said that on the day they moved in, “almost every single person on our street came by to meet us.” That feeling of community has continued: neighbors babysit Katie and Matt's kids and have given them a play set and “countless other toys and clothes.” Katie marvels that their neighbors “are never too busy to stop and chat—not even on the coldest winter day.” They moved to Madison for Matt's job at the UW and were “enchanted” by the “free libraries, tree-lined streets, and lovely old houses.” In the two years they have lived here, they have found the “warmth and kindness” they had been “hoping to find.” They still jog through the neighborhood with the kids and the dog, as on their first visit, feeling “grateful to be part of this community.”

And we are grateful for such wonderful new neighbors who add to that feeling of community for all of us.

Monroe Street Celebrates 70 Years of Library Service

By Sarah Lawton, Library Supervisor

Libraries have changed in many ways since 1944, when Madison Free Library opened its first west side location at 2606 Monroe Street. Viewed as an experiment in neighborhood services, the Monroe Street Library featured afternoon and evening hours designed, as the Capital Times reported, around the convenience of shoppers who might “plunk a couple of books down beside baby and the bag of groceries.” This represented a shift toward bringing the library to the community, an effort that continues to this day through Madison Public Library's city-wide network of partnerships and focus on community engagement.

Monroe Street Library remains a busy neighborhood hub, a place where books, audiobooks, DVDs, music and more might share a ride in the stroller. With the strong support of the Monroe Street

Alder Dailey Reports

At Hornblower press time, the City Council had just announced the appointment of Lucas Dailey to fill the remainder of the term as our new District 13 Alder. Lucas has a Master and BS in Architecture and Certificate in Urban Planning. Excerpts from his application for the position are included here to share some of his background. A short message follows.

“As a member and Vice Chair of the Board of Public Works for almost five years I regularly reconciled the competing interests of developers, the city, and residents. I worked hard to balance the needs of a growing city and economy with the preferences of all of its citizens. As a member and Vice Chair of the Sustainable Madison committee for four years I co-authored the city’s sustainability plan to help insure our continued quality of life and health of our community into the future. As a designer and member of my former neighborhood association’s development oversight committee I helped steer us toward more sustainable development and made significant improvements to a major neighborhood development project through working with their designer. As a practitioner of Design Thinking I’m able to find creative solutions to complex problems through collaboration, analysis, and design.

I believe I am uniquely qualified to help District 13 navigate both its challenges with private development and the upcoming Monroe Street reconstruction, and its role in the larger city and world. Madison’s economic prosperity relies on its ability to compete for talent with every other city in the world. That battle is fought through quality of life, job opportunities, and urban character. Madison and District 13 have a great opportunity to capitalize on its strengths to equip it for the future.”

Alder Lucas Dailey sends this brief message: “In the three days since I was appointed as our Alder I’ve been hearing about and working on parking, development, crime, traffic, water quality, pedestrians, festivals, and social equity. I want to hear from you; email me about your views and proposals or attend a Listening Session. (Information at www.cityof-madison.com/council/district13/updates/) With your help this will be a great year for Dudgeon-Monroe and District 13.”

Library League, Monroe Street Library connects the neighborhood to the broader community and provides access to hundreds of thousands of books, thousands of e-book and e-audiobook titles, technology that builds opportunity, and programs that inspire people to learn, share and create.

Monroe Street Library is gearing up for a summer reading program designed to encourage kids to build on their hard-earned skills by reading all summer long. Adults can participate in the popular adult summer reading program, sharing their summer favorites and entering drawings for prizes donated by neighborhood businesses. Monroe Street is also a hotspot for Madison Public Library’s popular Bubbler program, which features hands-on workshops with local artists and makers.

Most importantly, Monroe Street Library remains a welcoming community space with staff eager to help you learn a new skill, connect to a resource, or decide what to read next. Stop by to say hello and participate in 70 years of creating community on Monroe Street.

Treat Ash Trees Now

By Linell Davis and Percy Mather, Parks and Gardens Committee

The City of Madison is responsible for ash trees on the terraces, but homeowners must deal with the threat of Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) on their own ash trees. Looking at the ash trees on your property, you do not find any signs of Emerald Ash Borer (EAB) infestation. Reassured that your trees are healthy, you may not realize that you must act now. You need to treat trees with an effective pesticide or have them removed. If you wait until you see signs of infestation, it is unlikely that the tree can be saved. Symptoms do not appear until two or three years after infestation, and all trees are vulnerable to EAB no matter how healthy they are. Treatment prevents infestation and slows the spread of EAB.

Once you have identified an ash tree, the first step is to decide whether to protect the tree or remove it. If the tree is small – diameter less than ten inches when measured four and a half feet from the ground – the best course may be to remove the tree and replace it with a more desirable species. Small trees cannot be treated by injection of a systemic pesticide. They can be treated by the soil drench method, but the City strongly recommends against this because the chemicals used are neonicotinomides, suspected of damaging honeybee hives. To protect groundwater and the water quality of our lakes, do not use the soil drench method.

If the tree is big enough and you want to keep it, consider contacting an arborist to assess the tree and administer appropriate treatment. Spring to early summer is the best time to treat trees, but fall applications are also effective. If possible, coordinate hiring an arborist with neighbors to save money, as it is more cost-effective to treat several trees at a time. Deciding to treat a tree involves a commitment because it may have to be treated every two years. This is why you need the advice of a well-trained and experienced professional.

The DMNA website has more information and links related to EAB, including myths about EAB, what to do with the wood when ash trees are removed, and resources for finding qualified tree specialists: www.dmna.org/emeraldash.

Annual Meeting Reveals Moraine Secrets

By Aileen Nettleton

Did you know there was a large glacial moraine, 80 feet high and about a mile long, from present-day Fish Hatchery Road to Hill Street, Erin Street, and St. Mary's Hospital? Can you imagine a huge hill standing between Wingra Lake and Monona Bay? And what happened to it?

The mystery of "The Dividing Ridge" that lay between Lake Wingra and Monona Bay up until the early 1900's was revealed at the DMNA Annual Meeting, held April 6, by guest speaker Jeff Durbin. Photos from about 1870 and public land surveys from 1834 and 1873 show a terminal moraine between large areas of marshland surrounding both lakes. An Indian trail went along the top of the Ridge. The Ridge was described as "conspicuous and beautiful" by Increase Lapham, who had been invited by the landowner of the Ridge, Delaplaine, to survey and explore his land.

The geologist Whitney, traveling by train across the causeway of Monona Bay, described a ridge of "considerable elevation, the crest of which is serrated by a series of ancient monuments of earthworks." The survey mapped 25 effigy mounds located on the Ridge.

What happened to the Ridge and the mounds? Cuts were first made through the Ridge for the "Oregon Road" and Fish Hatchery. A 1902 photo shows two major quarries on the Ridge. By 1911 much of the gravel and sand had been used to fill in the marshes for land for Park Street and the vicinity and Vilas Park.

By 1908 all mounds except four had disappeared between the gravel pits, and Charles Brown, Wisconsin State Historical Society Director, crusaded to save these. Today the Indian Mounds Plaque above Vilas Park at Wingra and Erin Streets stands as a monument to the remaining mounds.

DMNA Officers for the upcoming year were elected in the business meeting. Al Nettleton was elected president, Charlie Crisanti vice president, Marcia Diamond secretary and Julia Billingham treasurer. Our thanks to each of them for accepting these roles for the association. Thanks, also, to Sherwood Malamud for his two years of service as president and to Al Nettleton for his ten years as treasurer.
